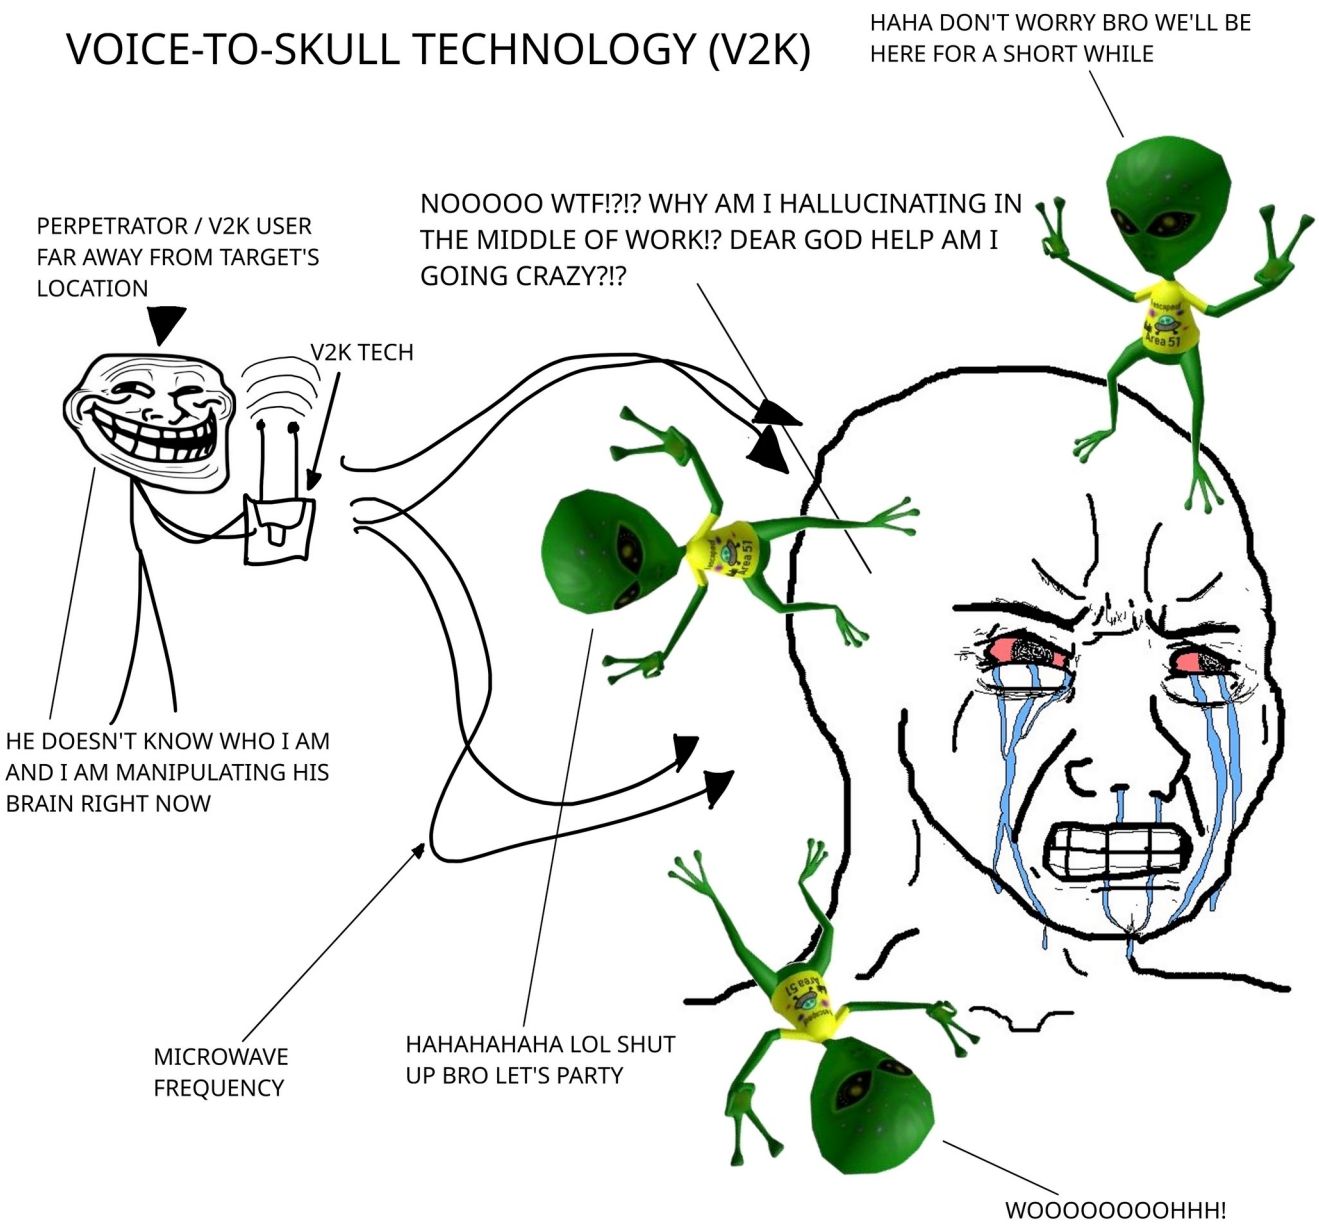
IS IT SCHIZOPHRENIA OR IS IT ELECTRONIC HARASSMENT?

(PDF Edition)

xXMachinaXx

SO WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?



VOICE-TO-SKULL TECHNOLOGY (V2K)
HAHA DON'T WORRY BRO WE'LL BE HERE FOR A SHORT WHILE NOOOOO WTF!?!? WHY AM I HALLUCINATING IN THE MIDDLE OF WORK!? DEAR GOD HELP AM I GOING CRAZY?!?
PERPETRATOR / V2K USER FAR AWAY FROM TARGET'S LOCATION
V2K TECH
HE DOESN'T KNOW WHO I AM AND I AM MANIPULATING HIS BRAIN RIGHT NOW
MICROWAVE FREQUENCY
HAHAHAHAHA LOL SHUT UP BRO LET'S PARTY
WOOOOOOOOHHH!

This read is for educational purposes… I made that meme to illustrate the main gist of V2K.

Both are disturbingly similar if we only focus on the common symptoms; The only difference is the person suffering from it. One is indeed a mentally ill schizo while the latter is a sane targeted individual whose mind is being bombarded by microwave frequencies. Both victims suffer from hearing voices in their heads.

ELECTRONIC HARASSMENT

Voice-to-skull technology or V2K is a nonlethal neuro-electromagnetic weapon used to emit voices inside a person's mind with the use of microwave frequencies; hence the name voice-to-skull. No traditional sound waves or speakers are needed to apply such exotic technology. This type of directed energy weapon came from a recognized scientific phenomenon called microwave auditory effect, V2K can simulate voice commands and monologues inside the target's head, making the exposed individual believe that they are either going bananas or perhaps determine that they are a target of electronic harassment (if they are aware of such weapon). This weapon was once criticized as a conspiracy theory until disclosed military documents and patent files were released in the public; deeper discussions and reports about V2K integrated with mass satellite surveillance and neural technologies have emerged in 2025. This has sparked widespread civilian concerns due to the government's vile misuse of the technology.

Electronic harassment via V2K has never been a conspiracy theory. Numerous accounts and research papers have been shared towards the public regarding voice-to-skull harassment. One example came from a website established by the US government called regulations.gov; a complaint was posted by an anonymous user that hackers and various cybercriminals have been using psychotronic weapons like V2K to manipulate the target at a far distance; both at a conscious to a subconscious level. Below is a screenshot of that complaint.

The army should invest in stopping other crimes like Most of the reports comes from counterintelligence on the equipment and the African American criminals using it
All fraud equipment being used to perform these tactics called metal to the head is customized and middle eastern made all fraud rings use this equipment
The concept of "voice to skull" (V2K) technology, also known as microwave auditory effect or synthetic telepathy, is often discussed in the context of electronic harassment. Here's an evaluation based on available information:
Overview of V2K Technology
Definition: V2K technology purportedly allows the transmission of voices directly into a person's head using microwave signals. This phenomenon is sometimes referred to as the "Frey Effect," named after Dr. Allan H. Frey who discovered it in 1962.

Urban cyber criminals use voice to skull metal to the head to manipulate the lie detection process after framing there victims and hiding from the government so they use there audience as witnesses to the fake social engineering using fraud tactics and make law enforcement blind from their criminal activities

Reported mental symptoms of V2K attacks include:

- Depression
- Auditory hallucinations
- Severe mood changes
- Withdrawal from interests or hobbies, and from loved ones and from the self for no reason.
- Delirium
- Memory loss
- Extreme fear
- Sudden joy
- Paranoia
- Thought suppression
- Hatred towards anyone or the self without any reason.
- Induced Anger

All symptoms listed above can cause the targeted individual to commit dangerous crimes.

Reported physical symptoms of V2K attacks include:

- Headaches
- Insomnia
- Excessive sweating
- Severe itching
- Teeth clicking/snapping
- Dreams feeling “unnatural” or “manipulated”
- Choking sensations
- Hand tremors
- Arthritis
- Shortness of breath
- Blurred eyesight
- Sudden screaming; speaking random or inaudible dialogues due to auditory hallucinations

HOW DOES THIS TYPE OF PSYCHOTRONIC ATTACK OCCUR?

Psychotronic attacks are methodical and thorough. The cybercriminal, or hacker, must first need to determine every kinds of gadgets the target uses so they can have plenty of options/vulnerabilities to infiltrate; phones, televisions, cameras, computers etc… How do they do this? By hacking the target’s electronic devices of course; it could be a landline, the internet, a Wi-Fi signal, security cameras, and even personal information like email. Upon determining the target's personal devices, the attacker can now emit those electronic voices via microwaves or through a satellite using their own computer or laptop; they could be just a few walks away from their target, or living next door, or operating from a distant location.

That's just one method of executing a psychotronic attack, which focuses more on covert operations; this other example is the opposite and it's nothing new. As a matter of fact, the second method will become the new paradigm because it is being pushed by megacorporations and governments. By planting the target with a microchip inside their bodies with the use of an injection. As the body begins to program itself in order to connect with the neurotransmitter chip, electricity runs through the target's anatomy and the integrated gadget can now read and predict the person's thoughts and feelings. The most dangerous part of this is that it could also whisper through the person's subconscious mind. The cyborg-turned human being is technically a walking cellphone and a vulnerable piece of hackable hardware. The US Military have been using this kind of technology for almost 60 years; imagine the capabilities of such tiny implant in the present day. In the near future the public will be subjected to it.

WHO CAN BE THE PERPETRATOR AND THE VICTIM?

Anyone can be a victim or a user of V2K, be it a public figure or a private citizen. Examples of individuals or groups having the capability of casting psychotronic attacks on anyone are rogue government groups, gangstalkers or various monitoring spirits, megacorporations and entrepreneurs, military organizations, reckless cyber criminals etc… victims include whistleblowers and truth seekers, ordinary people, celebrities, politicians, deep state members, business owners, scientists etc…

Anyone who has received classified intel about the deep state's current and future agendas, and they would likely disclose that info towards the public are highly likely to be a bullseye for V2K (if they don't bother covering traces of their own digital footprints of course, then they are an easy prey).

A patented machine that could identify someone who is a target of V2K can be searched in the public web, just type US20200390360A1 in your search engine and a Google Patent will pop out. You can download the PDF file and read the entire technology yourself.

WAYS TO PREVENT YOURSELF FROM BEING A TARGET OF V2K ATTACKS

- If you share classified intel to someone, do not use mainstream email services like Gmail, Yahoo, Hotmail, etc… those providers are widely known to secretly read people's email. Instead, operate with an alternative service that guarantees privacy like Protonmail, Tuta, and Atomic Mail.

- Do not vent or share too much information about yourself in the public web. Intelligence gatherers have the right amount of skill to identify you by just basing the way you structure your sentences.

- Deactivate or delete your social media accounts. If social medias are too important for your personal life then toggling your privacy settings to private is the best option; the only followers and friends you have are the ones you trust wholeheartedly. Unfollow, unfriend, and perhaps block those who are irrelevant in your circle.

- Don't stare too much at electronic devices like your phone, you tend to be more susceptible to potential frequencies that hackers would love to infiltrate. So technically, detox your mind from electronics.

Links about electronic harassment:
- https://odrindia.in/wiki/Voice-To-Skull_(V2K)#Misuses
- https://www.regulations.gov/comment/FAA-2024-0357-0004
- https://sgp.fas.org/othergov/dod/vts.html

Email (I don't message anyone first): yoshiyamakina@proton.me
Donate (if you want): www.paypal.com/paypalme/MakinaBlueprints
Substack: https://substack.com/@xxmachinaxx
Read my essay: https://archive.org/details/aftermath-of-2020-by-xxmachinaxx